

EDITORIAL

The June and July 1989 volumes of this journal are devoted to a set of 26 papers reporting the results of the Atmospheric Studies in Complex Terrain (ASCOT) program supported by the Department of Energy (DOE). Dr. William E. Clements of Los Alamos National Laboratory deserves our appreciation for organizing these papers and encouraging the many authors to conform to the required schedule and format. Because of the bulk of the 26 ASCOT papers, they are published in two separate volumes.
