Figure 2 in Abbaszadeh et al. (2021) represents the irrigation signal captured by the produced downscaled 1-km soil moisture product. The article should have specified, and is noted here, that this figure was generated using Figs. 2 and 3 from Lawston et al. (2017) and the related discussion includes a summary of the findings therein. For more information regarding SMAP-based irrigation detection, we refer readers to Lawston et al. (2017).
